

Smith, Weir, Debate

Stuart Smith and Bryce Weir, both candidates for the office of Students' Society President, will debate on opposite sides tomorrow at 1 pm in the Walter Stewart room.

It was also announced by the Debating Union that the debate will be filmed by the National Film Board and telecast over the national network sometime in April. It is intended to draw a comparison between debating in the Oxford Union and the Debating Union here at McGill.

Weir and Nancy Adams will uphold the affirmative side of the resolution "that this house sees a decline in the quality of British leadership in the West." Miss Adams, the Women's Vice-President of the Debating Union, was a member of McGill's National championship team, and holds the Gold Key for debating. Supporting Smith on the negative side will be Norman May, a member of the undefeated Toronto tour team, and a participant in a televised debate last January.

Anti-atheism Bill Read In Texas

A bill that would require faculty members in all state-supported colleges in Texas to sign affidavits declaring their belief in a Supreme Being is coming under strong criticism by educators and clergymen.

The bill, now pending in the House of Representatives of Texas, was introduced by several legislators who claimed that Atheism was being taught in many educational institutions. They admitted, however, that their bill is based thus far only on "hearsay" of students, but that the matter will be thoroughly explored.

The incident that resulted in demands for the bill was a reported remark by a University of Texas teacher, who scoffed at religion to his students, urging them to spend Thanksgiving Day studying, not praying.

University officials denied that any faculty member was known to be an atheist or to advocate atheism.

Shrew Taming Starts Thursday

"The Taming of the Shrew", Shakespeare's rollicking comedy of love, sex and marriage, opens Thursday night, March 5 at Moyse Hall. Presented by the Department of English, "The Taming of the Shrew" will be repeated on Friday and Saturday evenings. Curtain times is 8:30.

Set in the colourful Italian Renaissance, "The Taming of the Shrew" has been directed by Harry Ritchie, with costumes by Althea Douglas, settings by Neil Madden and David Farley, and lighting by Creighton Douglas. Every effort has been made to preserve the rich excitement of the theatre of Shakespeare's day, with all its colour, warmth and humour.

"The Taming of the Shrew", one of Shakespeare's liveliest and most romantic comedies, tells the story of the stormy courtship and marriage of the hot-tempered and shrewish Katharine, played by Jane Anders, and the determined and masterful Petruchio, played by Michael Packard. A sub-plot tells of the schemes and rivalry of the many suitors for the hand of Katharine's fair and gentle sister, Bianca, played by Sue Grossman.

Professor Bishop Delivers First Of Beatty Lectures

DR. MORRIS BISHOP

Professor Morris Bishop of Cornell begins this year's Beatty Lectures at 8:30 tonight in the Currie Gymnasium. This year's series, entitled "By the River of Hochelaga—the Land the French Found", will deal with the St. Lawrence River.

The Beatty Memorial Lectures were established by a gift from the late Dr. H. A. Beatty in memory of his brother, Sir Edward Beatty, a former chancellor of McGill University. Through this gift, the university is able to invite distinguished lecturers to discuss subjects of contemporary interest.

Dr. Bishop is a professor of Romance Literature at Cornell University, and has received many academic and cultural awards. He has served as an officer of many organizations, including Phi Beta Kappa and the Century Club. Professor Bishop is also a prolific writer whose works range from biographies to profound verse.

Tickets for the lectures on March 3, 7, and 10 may be obtained at the Registrar's office.

MONTREAL, March 2 — Negotiations to end the CBC strike ended today in failure and resulted in a near-riot outside the CBC headquarters on Dorchester Street. 28 strike leaders, sympathizers and top television stars were arrested during the three-hour fracas between 1,000 strikers and over 100 policemen this afternoon.

OTTAWA, March 2 — The Board of Transport Commissioners is considering the suspension of increased commuter train fares scheduled to go into effect March 15.

CLOSELY - CONTESTED DEBATE WON BY KRT

The Molson Cup for debating was yesterday won by KRT's Les Malcovitch and Bob Amaron, upholding the resolution "Resolved that secret diplomacy is undiplomatic" against Nick Gray and Peter Eglington of Zeta Psi Fraternity.

The audience consisted of the three judges, Norman Spinner, Michael Meighen and Gordon Echenberg, and brothers of the two fraternities involved.

The unanimous decision was the result of a close debate; the total difference in each judge's score sheet was only 11 points.

A clever definition of the resolution, backed up by artful debating, gained the winning points for KRT.

This debate draws to a close the Inter-Fraternity League program which during this past year was under the chairmanship of Steve Weinstein.

Panel Discusses Aspects Of Artificial Insemination

by ANNE VON OFENHEIM

Last Thursday night, the first-year Medical students held a symposium on 'Artificial Insemination.'

The four speakers were: Dr. J. Langman, Ph.D., MD., Associate Professor of Anatomy; Maxwell Cohen, LL.M., Professor of Law; Dr. George B. Maugham, Ph.D., MD., CM., Professor of Obstetrics, Gynaecology and Chairman of the Board; and John A. Boorman, Ph.D., Lecturer in Divinity. David L. Thomson, Ph.D., Professor of Biochemistry and Chairman of the Department acted as moderator.

The initial speaker was Dr. Langman who gave a summation of the various kinds of artificial insemination. These are: AIH, homologous insemination by husband; AID, heterologous insemination by donor; and insemination by donor and husband — CAI. He gave statistics on the success of AIH and AID stating that homologous insemination was only 30% successful while homologous insemination was 50 to 70% successful.

Dr. Langman pointed out that if man could be considered purely as a biological unit, hereditary diseases and congenital defects could be eliminated by AID. He cited the case of Hitler's attempt to create a "super race" by this method.

The second speaker, Maxwell Cohen, spoke of the legal aspects of AID. He said that the relationship of AID to adultery and illegitimacy is an insoluble problem.

The two concepts of adultery — that of contact and that of spurious child, present two arguments as to whether AID is adultery or not. Some courts have concluded that AID constitutes adultery as it is a breach of loyalty.

This question is not a great problem when the husband consents. If it is conducted in secrecy, however, its discovery may lead to separation, divorce, and illegitimacy of the ensuing child. Mr. Cohen also pointed out the liability of the donor and of the doctor practicing AID.

Dr. Maugham, the third speaker, elaborated on the legal risks of AID. He said that most doctors will not take this risk and there are very few practising it in North America.

Rhodesia College Is Multi-Racial

The only fully multi-racial university in Southern Africa opens its third year on Monday with an increased co-educational enrollment and plans for full residential integration.

Although the students were informed that there would be residential integration for the first time, the new policy will not change corridor segregation within the dormitories. The students will eat together and will be able to mix in common rooms. In the one women's residence, two Africans will share a corridor distinct from that of the other women.

There are no Africans on the teaching and administrative staffs. Before his recent marriage to a French-Canadian, however, a local African, Dr. Bernard Chidzero, was considered for a research post. Dr. Chidzero, now at Oxford, took his M. A. from the University of Ottawa and his Ph. D. from McGill. The teaching staff, at present, which is mostly British born or trained, is young and enthusiastic to help create a university from an experiment in racial partnership. Their efforts, as well as those of Dr. Walter Adams, the college principal, have helped to overcome the local suspicion towards a multi-racial institution.

At present, the college awards a general London BA degree after three years work in three subjects. A more specialised B. Sc. degree in general sciences and in agriculture is also awarded. An institute of education, one of five such institutes in Africa, also grants a certificate on a post-graduate level.

Undergraduates now have a choice of three subjects, including history, English literature, Latin, and several others. Dr. Adams hopes to institute new courses soon, among which are medicine, geology and engineering.

Students come to the college from all parts of the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland and from the Union of South Africa. Eleven of this year's students will be from Britain. The Africans represent more than twenty tribal groupings.

Canada Has The Jitters

cent; and automobiles, ninety-six per cent. As things are going now, Canada can remit across the border without strain the dividends due on U.S.-held enterprises and the interest on money borrowed abroad; in 1957 the total was about $400 million a year net. But if the annual billion-dollar inflow of capital funds should stop, that $400-million annual obligation to absentee owners outside Canada could be burdensome indeed.

The southward shift of economic power generated by the northward flow of investment dollars is taken with grave concern because it looks like the final step tying Canada irrevocably and helplessly to U.S. policy, brinkmanship and all. Canadians know far more about the United States than Americans know about Canada, and so naturally they are more realistic. They know they are only one-fourteenth the size in economic terms and therefore have to ride in the same boat with the giant above all in foreign and military policy. And being sensible despite their apprehensions, they don't want to rock the boat. Nevertheless, they would like to be consulted by the pilot, oftener and more attentively, about courses and speeds.

Panel Discusses

The fourth speaker, Dr. Boorman, discussed the religious and moral aspects of AID. He raised the question — does AID violate the marriage ceremony and the nature of marriage? He stated that we cannot separate the biological and spiritual being, and that children should be the product of a union of love.

Dr. Boorman pointed out the danger of secrecy of AID from the relatives, the child and above all from the husband. He said "it is too dangerous to want to play God".

A brief question and answer period followed the discussion during which the panel members elaborated on the legal and psychological aspects of AID.

Voelkel Discusses Korea's Problems

By DENIS COUPLAND

"Korea is the tinderbox of the Orient", according to Rev. Harold Voelkel, a Presbyterian fraternal worker and teacher there since 1929.

In a talk yesterday to McGill students, he said that "It is going to be difficult for Korea to ever enjoy total independence". She has always been surrounded by stronger and larger powers: — the Japanese islands, the huge bulk of China and Russia to the north. Consequently the peninsula has often been invaded and ravaged by battles between these powers, not taking an active part but merely being used as a battleground.

Within the last century three wars have occurred; the Sino-Japanese and Russo-Japanese wars and, most recently of all, the war between the Eastern and Western worlds. During the last war more Koreans than United Nations forces were killed.

"The church in Korea is the result of a revival", said Rev. Voelkel. When the Japanese invaded Korea early in the century, they completely subjugated and humiliated the Korean people for they were aware that the Koreans had been "responsible for culture in Japan". This very state of humiliation and dejection prepared the country for spiritual aid in Christianity.

CHEST X-RAY

A number of students in the B. A. course have either failed to make an appointment with the Health Service for the annual Chest X-Ray Examination or, having made an appointment have failed to keep it. The names of such students are posted on the Dean's Notice Board.

Women students who are listed should present themselves to the Health Service on Thursday, March 5, between 9 and 11.30 am. and men students on the afternoon of the same day. This is the Final Notice concerning this matter, and students who fail to comply with it will be reported to Senate.

GRADUATE STUDENTS

Graduate Students engaged in Biological Sciences should make appointments for annual Chest X-Rays tomorrow. Students may register in the Biological Sciences Building from 9 am - 5 pm Wednesday. PLEASE BE SURE TO MAKE YOUR APPOINTMENT AT THIS TIME.

College Graduates And Seniors

A Canadian manufacturer of products which are merchandised through retail food and drug outlets is increasing its sales organization and instituting modern management procedures developed by an American consulting firm. One feature of the program is a planned four year training course in selling.

The long range implementation of this program calls for the creation of field supervisory and management positions in all sections of Canada. There are also a limited number of positions in various areas of marketing management in the home office of this company and its affiliates. Candidates for these positions will be drawn from among those who have demonstrated above average ability and industriousness in actual sales territories.

College trained men are offered an opportunity to compete with men experienced in this type of work. Appointment to advanced positions will be based on aptitudes for managerial work, as revealed by psychological tests and interviews as well as performance in sales positions. Remuneration and fringe benefits are most liberal.

Your field of specialization in college is not important if you are really interested in a life-time career in marketing management with a progressive international organization.

That Time Again

Today the undergraduates of the University elect their main officers for next year. The platforms of all of them appeared in yesterday's issue of the Daily and are being published again today for the benefit of the voters.

By this time, the average student should, at least, realize that there is some sort of an election today. There is really no valid excuse for any person to say that he does not know who is running, or what positions are being contested. For the past several days the notice boards in all campus buildings have been plastered with a myriad campaign posters and various notices exhorting all to vote.

In the past the percentage of students who have exercised their franchise has been very small. In an institution such as this where thought and intelligence are supposed to predominate more people should be interested in their own management. Every student who pays his universal Students' activity fee has a direct interest in the elections which are being held today.

The Daily has said the same thing for the past forty-seven years, but it bears repeating: Today is our one opportunity to participate directly in student government, let's take advantage of it.

Good Old Southern Fun

Charles Dickens relates in Nicholas Nickleby:

The child raised a dismal cry by way of answer, and Mr. Squeers (the schoolmaster) ... beat him till the little urchin in his writhings actually rolled out of his hands ...

Not the frenzied cruelty of Mr. Squeers but the customs which made such excesses possible prevailed in the 1830's on the American side of the Atlantic as well as the British. Law and mores have come a long way since. With all its grievous problems America is probably better off for the change.

But with the burgeoning of juvenile delinquency, the apparent weakening of parental control, and with it the difficulties of many schools, thoughtful as well as impulsive people wonder whether Americans may have gone too far in banning some traditional "sanctions" of authority. An incident in Memphis comprises enough of the several factors to make it a good subject for analysis:

A score of troublemaking boys tried to organize a boycott of the high-school cafeteria, plugged a vending machine with slugs, and left school without permission. The principal gave them the choice between having the matter carried further with their parents or taking a seven-whack paddling and forgetting it. Most of the boys chose the latter.

Tennessee law does not prohibit schoolteachers as such from laying hands on pupils regardless of provocation. It declares, and the courts have spelled it out, that schoolteachers may exercise to a reasonable degree the disciplinary rights of parents while children are in their charge. This makes what is reasonable under what circumstances the decisive factor.

Several parents charged the principal with assault. But the judge denied their complaint: Paddling under the circumstances was not assault; it was a reasonable endeavor to enforce discipline.

The Tennessee law and, in particular, this ruling may point a commonsense approach to an increasingly difficult problem: Not specifically shackling teachers in any and all situations, but making them answerable for the reasonableness of their acts.

What Others Say

Canada Has The Jitters

(The following article appeared in a recent issue of "The Reporter")

Contemplating their four-thousand-mile undefended southern border, many thoughtful and influential Canadians are beginning to wonder if some defense works are not in order. It's not a radar fence they want, or a row of tank traps, but more subtle ramparts against (1) the steady, large-scale invasion by U.S. industrial capital and (2) the northward extension of U.S. law and policy. In Canadian financial circles especially, these twin invasions look painfully real and also sinister.

MORBID VIEW

They are sometimes morbidly introspective about their country, and ever more apprehensive, these Canadians who study the statistical portents year by year. But they have solid facts and figures to back up their fears. At best, they see Canada as a nation condemned to an indefinite future as hewers of wood and drawers of water for America and the world. At worst, they see Canada largely owned by foreigners and losing its freedom of political action along with its economic independence.

The figures show, for example, that Canada is relatively less of a manufacturing nation than it was a decade ago. In 1947, manufacturing represented nearly thirty-one per cent of all Canadian production. By 1956 it was only 28.6 per cent, and today is still less. The country's exports are largely primary raw materials and farm products. Of the twelve chief export commodities, only newsprint is a manufactured product. This is usually the mark of a colony, not a balanced industrialized nation.

TORONTO SEERS

The seers in Toronto who read the statistical tea leaves blame the United States for this dispiriting trend. They charge no conspiracy, no evil intent, no conscious U.S. "imperialism". But their charts show Canada to be more largely foreign owned than any other industrialized nation. According to a tally made recently by the Financial Post of Toronto, Canada's industry is owned forty-one per cent by Canadians, fifty-one per cent by Americans, and eight per cent by others. In such figures, the Post discerns a web of foreign control being woven around the nation. And it steadily urges policies to assure the country's economic independence, or at least to diversify its dependences and so escape an unacceptable subservience to the United States.

The Post every week and the Toronto Globe and Mail every day form a kind of political DEW Line, sounding a Distant Early Warning of invasion from the south. In general, U.S. dollars are welcome in Canada, as foreign capital has been for many decades. But when the investments come too fast, and too much from one foreign country, a nearby colossus, the accumulated dollar obligation becomes a badge of servitude.

This is not, of course, the image that meets the casual eye. And the average Canadian's eye is casual. Things look quite rosy to him. Canada is enjoying a prolonged and fairly spectacular economic boom. The Canadian dollar is worth $1.03, and sometimes more, in U.S. currency. But this is quite misleading, because it does not result from any export surplus of goods. It reflects mainly the vast inflow of U.S. investment capital. For every $2 Canadians now invest in their own industry, foreigners invest $1 (75 cents of it American). If the flow of U.S. dollars suddenly stopped (which is not inconceivable), the Canadian dollar probably would drop to 85 cents — because Canada does not export nearly enough to cover its vast imports, which come mostly from the United States. In very round numbers, Canada has been buying $1 billion more goods in the United States than it has been selling there each year.

LAVISH BUYING

With their dollar at a premium, Canadians have been encouraged to buy lavishly in the United States. In late years, as a result, Canada's imports have risen nearly twice as fast as the volume of Canadian manufacturing. This high level of imports not only penalizes Canada's own manufacturing; it also adds to the long-term dividend-and-interest obligation of Canada to the outer world. In other words, Canadians are buying heavily abroad because they get a "three per cent discount." But in reality it is the flow of investment funds from the United States that is paying for much of those imports. The more prolonged the boom and the greater the inflow of foreign capital, the more oppressive will be the annual dividend-and-interest drain on the Canadian economy in future decades.

It has gone pretty far already. U.S. citizens and corporations now own half of Canada's industry, chiefly through some 3,750 subsidiary plants and concerns.

For specific industries, the U.S. share varies widely. Canadians own their own steel industry, for example; but the pulp industry is forty-six per cent U.S.-owned; oil and gas, seventy-four per cent; rubber, eighty-eight per cent.

28 STUDENTS CONTESTING 9 MAJOR POSITIONS IN TODAY'S ELECTIONS

Students' Society President

Paul Raynault

Every student has a part to play on the campus. Paul is aiming to acquaint all of you to a fuller understanding of your university, its complexity, and the numerable difficult situations it has to face.

 Vote Paul Raynault for Student President. His program: On the subject of grants to the universities, McGill in particular, a new approach is needed. We would extend an invitation to Mr. Duplessis to visit McGill so that he might understand its "clandestine" activities.

The long-sought-for reduction in bus fares for university students might be accomplished through persistent yet amicable negotiation, with the proper authorities.

Paul is an advocate of something closer to home: a new union. Immediate action should begin on the acquirement of finances. Reports from the committee formed to study this project have not been definite. Little progress has been made in this direction. Paul Raynault demands action, he feels that he is the man to do it.

Paul is a promising young science student. He is the holder of two scholarships; The University Entrance Scholarship and the MacDonnell Scholarship.

At High School he was a member of the Glee Club; he was the staff photographer for the School Magazine. His other credits are Cadet Major, and President of School Jazz Club.

At McGill he majors in Maths and physics, is a member of the Science Fiction Club. He is trying to create a Rocket Club on the Campus, but has met with Government restrictions in the use of explosives. His plans are to organize a Bowling Club starting next September.

All things being equal, Paul Raynault is active in many fields and should be elected Student President.

Stuart Smith

If elected, I promise to serve the Students' Society as I have for the past four years, that is, to the best of my ability. In particular, I shall continue to press for a lowering of student fees, for public awareness regarding the problems of education in this province, and for the development of the New Union. I shall create, in addition to the present Executive Application Program, an Activity Application Program, with particular emphasis on a greater utilization of the talent of foreign students in the Students' Society.

The job of Students' Society President is a complex one, one which requires, above all, experience in student affairs. We, the undersigned feel that Stu Smith alone among the candidates has shown the interest, ability and experience necessary for this position. His record speaks for itself:

1. Presently Chairman of the New Union Committee.
2. Member, Daily Editorial Board, Awards Committee, and Special Committee on Education.
3. Former VICE-PRESIDENT, STUDENTS' SOCIETY, and PRESIDENT, STUDENTS' UNION.
4. Former S.E.C. representative from Arts and Science; Director of External Affairs, S.E.C.
5. Member, Senior Intercollegiate Debating team for 3 years. Represented McGill 26 times in Intercollegiate debate.
6. Member, Scarlet Key.
7. Former Associate Editor, "Old McGill" Annual.
8. Former Executive Sports Editor, Daily.
9. Member, Debating Union Executive for 3 years.
10. Former member, Winter Carnival Executive Board.
11. McGill Representative to Texas and NFCUS conferences.

Not only has Stu held many positions, but his performance was so outstanding that he earned the following awards:

1. Reford Cup.
2. Students' Society GOLD award and Students' Society SILVER award.
3. McGill Daily-GOLD award.
4. Debating-GOLD A award.
5. Debating Union-GOLD Executive award.

At the same time, Stu has won the following Scholarships:

1. University Scholarship.
2. Birks Scholarship and Medal.
3. World University Service Scholarship - 1959.

No other candidate has shown anywhere near the amount of interest in the Students' Society and its problems that Stu has shown, nor has any other candidate a record in student affairs to match Stu's. We urge the election of Stu Smith, a man of wide experience and of proven ability.

Anyone who takes the trouble to read over the election promises made by student politicians at McGill in recent years would be depressed by the regularity with which these promises are unkept. I am only going to make one — and that is that if I am elected I will work to the best of my ability to serve all the students at McGill. These are some issues which should gain the attention of the students' Society:

- 1) To decentralize authority in the Students' Society. There should be increased liaison between the President of the Faculties and Residences; the Council of Presidents can be a useful consultative body.

- 2) To combat student apathy. Many people miss excellent opportunities to add to their formal education by failing to participate in student activities. At registration, one could fill in an extra-curricular information card and add to the existing Executive Application Program.

- 3) To increase funds available for student aid.

We must keep the issues clearly in the public eye, by propagating discussion with university and government authorities, and good press and T.V. coverage.

- 4) To promote the construction of a new Union.

ACADEMIC RECORD

- 1) University Scholar in Science and Medicine
- 2) Awarded the Christie-Storer, MacDonald and Robert Bruce Scholarships
- 3) Neurophysiology and Mosby Prizes in Medicine

EXTRA-CURRICULAR RECORD

- 4) Freshman Reception Committee 1954
- 5) Fraternity Red Cross Canvassing 1955
- 6) Debating Union Executive 1955 and '56
- 7) Secretary, Alpha Omega Alpha, Honour Medical Society 1959
- 8) Contributor to McGill Medical Journal, and Canadian Medical Students Journal
- 9) Editorial Board, Medical Faculty Humour Magazine

DEBATING RECORD

- 10) Winner Bovey Shield 1953
- 11) Gold A Award 1954
- 12) Gold Key Award 1959
- 13) Member UK Debating Team 1959

MILITARY RECORD

- 14) Member McGill. COTC 1954-57
- 15) Commissioned 1956
- 16) Promoted to Lieutenant 1958

Students' Union President

Zafar Khan

I am running for Union President because I strongly believe I can contribute something constructive in the coming year. My guiding principles would be:

1. Student money should always be put to the best possible use.
2. Union Regulations will be applied fairly and equally to all. Therefore the Engineers will not be discriminated from holding IRON RING CEREMONIES in the Union.

3. A new Union is forthcoming soon, I will press for its speediest completion.

4. Meanwhile, we must spruce up the old building to obtain maximum service; new furniture might well be the solution.

Zafar Khan is a Commerce student from Pakistan. Zafar has been President of the United Nations Club for two years and Chairman of International House Committee which sponsors the Flying Carpet. Zafar is a former member of the Union Board of Managers in which capacity he convened the first meeting of campus heads to discuss co-operation and co-ordination of events. This year Zafar was Chairman of the 70 University Model United Nations, the largest project of its kind in North America.

Because of his perseverance, constructive ability and experience we think Zafar is qualified, and we heartily endorse him.

I will if elected carry out this programme:

- 1) Continue exploiting present Union facilities to the utmost, for the use of ALL campus groups;
- 2) Ensure that plans being made for the New Union provide for all activities;
- 3) Continue to work for Federal Grants;
- 4) Increase participation in activities.

One rarely finds the degree of extensive participation and experience in student affairs that the following record reveals:

At McGill: Entrance Scholarship Social and Cultural Director of the Students' Executive Council (Arts & Science Representative); Scarlet Key; Committee on Education; Students' Society Silver Award; Choral Society (President); Debating Union (Treasurer and Executive Gold Award); SCOPE Committee; McGill Delegate, First Annual NFCUS Seminar; McGill Daily; English Department Plays.

Peter's wide range of activities has brought him into close contact with all phases of the Union's programme and administration. As a member of the SEC he is well acquainted with all student issues and problems, and has the knowledge and experience necessary for the Vice-President of the Students' Society.

On the basis of his character, his record, his extensive administrative and executive experience and his sound practical knowledge of student and Union affairs, we strongly recommend Peter White for President of the McGill Students' Union.

Women's Union PresidentDerry Allen

The Women's Union executive must be a strong, well-organized body to direct programs and to provide services for all women students at McGill. In addition to annual projects such as Year Dinners, Hospital Volunteer Work, and Freshette Reception, I would propose to undertake:

Raising money for the Scholarship Fund by publishing and selling McGill Engagement Calendars and holding a fashion show in the fall.

Extending the book exchange. Working in conjunction with Open House '59 by holding a Mother-Daughter evening.

Instituting employment opportunities for women through career advisors.

Appointing a Promotions Chairman to further public relations of the Women's Union.

Derry Allen

We, the undersigned, feel that Derry Allen possesses the organizational ability, enthusiasm, and diplomacy necessary for the President of the Women's Union. She has demonstrated her competence and varied interests in her positions on campus functions and in offices in the Royal Victoria College.

Derry has admirably shown qualities of leadership in:

Freshette Reception 1958
Women's Union Fashion Show 1958

R.V.C. Vice President 1958-59
R.V.C. House Council Representative 1957-58

Eleanor Webster

If elected, I propose to

1. Keep all women students better informed of Women's Union activities through more meetings with faculty representatives, more news in the Daily, increased number of posters, and further use of the Telephone Committee.

2. Investigate the possibilities of renovating the women's lounges in the Biology and Engineering Buildings.

3. Develop closer integration between resident and non-resident students.

4. Preserve the autonomy of the Women's Union.

5. Continue all the present projects of the Women's Union, such as the Fair, Fashion Show, Year Dinners, Volunteer Work, Book Exchange.

6. Canvass all women students through a suggestion box plan, for ways and means by which Women's Union activities should be extended to new areas.

Eleanor Webster

Eleanor, a Nursing Student, was first-appointed and then elected a Member-at-Large on the Women's Union Executive in 1958. She has been associated with the Poster, Bulletin, Telephone, and Lounge Committees, and was responsible for arranging the recent renovation of the Arts Building Common Room. She also worked on Freshette Reception, Women's Union Fair, China Display, in addition to other campus activities.

We feel that Eleanor's experience and enthusiasm on the Women's Union Executive fully justifies her election as President.

W.A.A. PresidentNora Altimas

From my association with Women's Athletics at McGill I feel that the following improvements should be carried out: If elected I will:

1. Reorganize Freshette Athletics Preview so as to reach ALL freshettes.

2. Make a clearer division between the Club Presidents' and Managers' jobs, but also maintain close cooperation between the two.

3. Stress long range planning of events with increased use of publicity agents.

Also, I personally support the following suggestions:

1. Closer tie between WAA and SAC

2. Women in the Redmen Band

3. Formation of a women's Curling Club

4. Formation of a Life Guard Club for the new RVC Pool.

Nora Altimas

Nora, a scholarship student, is a member of the WAA Council (the main body of the Association), giving her a knowledge of how the Association functions — an essential qualification for a successful president. Nora has participated in intramural tennis, bowling, golf, basketball, and skiing; intercity basketball, intercollegiate skiing, and the Watershow. As Ski Club President, Nora organized the Ski Day.

Nora, a Red Wing, is Commerce Corresponding Secretary, and has many other activities to her name. With an excellent overall picture of Women's Athletics at McGill, Nora, we believe, would make a WAA President of the highest calibre.

Olga Warren

I feel that to have an efficient athletic association the following ideals should be strived for:

Capable executive and committee chairman.

Complete cooperation between members.

Wide participation in the Intramural competitions.

An interesting program.

A capable representative on the association for each student group.

Good publicity informing people of events.

Liason between the association and other student groups.

If elected I will work conscientiously toward carrying out this platform and will do my utmost to promote women's sports on this campus.

Olga Warren

Combined in this Phys. Ed., from Macdonald College, are found the two necessary qualities for athletic leadership — Executive experience and participation. Olga's record speaks for her ability in both these capacities.

At Macdonald —
Chairman of Playday committee.

Manager — Intercollegiate Basketball.

Played on two intercollegiate teams.

At McGill —

Faculty representative on Intramural Sports Committee.

Manager — Junior and intercollegiate basketball.

Competitive sports committee.

Soccer and intercollegiate volleyball and three intramural teams.

Took part in Watershow and Modern Dance Club.

Faculty representative on Women's Union.

On the basis of her previous experience and outstanding ability, we the undersigned believe OLGA WARREN to be the ideal choice for President and strongly urge your support.

Ulla May Stenman
Adery Patton

Andrea Lough

I propose a four point program:

1. Close co-ordination of Women's athletics at the intercollegiate, intramural, and recreational levels.

2. A thorough program to notify the freshettes of McGill's athletic program, and to encourage their participation in sport.

3. Increase participation at the intramural level, and thereby encourage more interest towards intercollegiate competition.

4. Through wider publicity, create a genuine campus interest in women's athletics.

Andrea Lough

The President of the WAA must be active in sports and capable of handling an executive position. We believe that Andrea has these qualifications.

During her three years as a Physical Education student, she has participated in intramural basketball, volleyball, swimming, tennis, and intercity soccer and hockey. She was also a member of the Intercollegiate ski team for two years.

As well as being active in sports, Andrea has been a member of the MWSAA for two years, and she has worked for the Blood Drive, Combined Charities and the Women's Union. This year she was Technical Director of the McGill Watershow.

We feel that Andrea's record and enthusiasm show that she is the most qualified candidate.

ANNUAL AWARDS BANQUET

Exactly ten days from today our athletic femmes will be feted, toasted and awarded at the Annual Awards Banquet which will be held in Royal Victoria College starting at 6:30 pm. Members of intercollegiate teams will receive Senior "M"'s, intercity squads, Junior "M"'s and intramural champs small club letters. Worthy athletes will be also receiving trophies, bar-pins and certificates and honourable mentions. Climaxing the evening will be the presentation of the Highest Award of the Women's Athletic Association to a girl in her graduating class who has made at least seven intercollegiate teams and has done an outstanding job in athletics, as an organizer and participant.

The "brains" or promoters, administrators and presidents will also be in the limelight receiving crests, representative "R"'s and other such awards. All presidents of clubs are reminded to contact their award winners as soon as possible to initial their name on the Notice Board in RVC to show that they're coming. A group of about 200 girls are expected to attend this gala event concluding this very successful WAA season under the great leadership of Nadia Pavlychenko.

OPEN MEETING NEXT WEEK

Two days before the big feast, the WAA will open its doors to all femmes, athletic or otherwise. This is one event which all women students should not miss. Next year's presidents of the various clubs will be introduced to those present and this year's presidents will bow out with a few recommendations which they hope will improve the program. But the perhaps the most important business of the meeting will be the election of next year's Secretary, Treasurer, Chairman of Recreational Activities Council and Women's Athletic Board Representative. Nominees for Secretary must be in present second or third year (not first or second as previously announced in the Daily); Treasurer from present first or second third year; Chairman of Recreational Activities Council from present third year; Women's Athletic Board representative from present second or third year. The second game of a two game total point FINAL series between Medicine and Dentistry will be played Wednesday at 7 pm at the MWS. Meds won the first game 4 to 3.

For two years in a row Western has walked off with the Bronze baby, emblematic of intercollegiate basketball supremacy. McGill drew Queen's in the first round and came out on the short end of a 37-24 score while Western walloped Toronto 38-31 in the other match. Queen's and Western then tangled in the final and after an emotion packed tilt the gals from Western were declared intercollegiate champs by virtue of a 46-33 score in their favour. In a consolation match McGill lost 33-26 to Toronto.

The first game saw McGill tangling with the same squad from Queen's whom they had played host to in an invitation meet several weeks ago. McGill and Queen's playing it close to the vest in the first quarter saw neither team hold much of an advantage. But Queen's came on strong and at the half led McGill 25-15. In the second half both teams matched basket for basket and as a result the lead piled up by Queen's in the early stages of the game was the winning margin. Sally Sadler who has played very steady basketball for McGill during the entire Women's Open Basketball League Schedule led the Red and White in scoring while Jean Taylor turned a solid game as a rearguard. Joan Atwood, Jill McCready and Susan Hough toured in sparkling performances for Queens'.

In the other draw Western and Toronto tangled in what proved to be another thriller. Final score in the fast, wide open contest was Western 38, Toronto 31.

In the third game McGill and Toronto met to decide the "winners of the losers". Sally Sadler again led the McGillians in scoring, getting a good percentage of the squad's total points while Jean McMichael and Corrie Oomen were next best in the individual scoring honours. Jean Taylor and Mary Farr held their own on defense and as a result bottled up the prolific Toronto offense which did not play as well as they did in their encounter against Western. Lillian Robson and Lillian Hutt shared the scoring limelight for the Blue and White.

In the all important finals Western and Queens' met in the big showdown. Superior shooting and ball handling was the difference between the two teams as Western finally nosed out Queen's 46-33. Queens' twir guards Jan and Van Elliot proved to be one of the top intercollegiate guarding combinations.

Its $75,000,000 plant on a 430 acre site at Edmonton, Alberta, consists of 3 plants—a petrochemical unit, a cellulose acetate manufacturing unit, and a filament yarn plant. It has its own power plant and water treating facilities to supply steam, electricity, water and compressed air. The Company also has technical facilities necessary to provide for control of the quality of its products and for the development of new processes and products.

Q. What do we make at Edmonton?

A. Canadian Chemical's three integrated plants at Edmonton use the products of Canada's forests and vast oil fields... producing for world markets high-quality supplies of ORGANIC CHEMICALS, CELLULOSE ACETATE FLAKE, ACETATE YARN AND STAPLE FIBRE.

Q. What are the job opportunities?

A. Our engineering department is one of the largest and most diversified in Canada. We have technical and professional services... extensive laboratory facilities for operational quality control of our many products... for developing and piloting new products and processes. We operate our own power plant and water treating facilities.

Q. What would I be doing?

A. As one of our electrical engineering group, you would be meeting new challenges in the development of new automation systems... designing power feeder systems and lighting... designing additions and modifications to what is possibly the most complex system of industrial automation in Canada. Or, you might be working with our other engineers in important tasks like these:—

- field inspection
- detailing, estimating
- process design
- engineering supervision and administration
- improving process efficiency, or increasing production

Challenging job opportunities also exist for mechanical engineers, chemical engineers, chemists and engineering physics graduates—as discussed in other ads of this series.
